Research Policy:

Researchers are welcomed to explore the Archives with an understanding of the following:

- Registration and UST or government issued identification must be provided.
- Personal brief cases, papers, phones (ringers silenced or turned off), laptop computers are allowed.
- Only pencils are to be used.
- No smoking, drinking, or eating is allowed.
- All archival materials must be handled carefully: one folder at a time, keeping all papers in the original order. No materials may leave the archives. Photo copies can be made available.*
- Gloves must be worn when handling photographs.
- For documents contained in private papers, access is at the discretion of the archivist.
- Researchers are responsible for obtaining copyright permission to publish, reproduce, or distribute any archival material.
- When publishing material from the University archives, credit is to be given to the University of St. Thomas Archives.

PHOTOCOPYING: Unless restricted or protected by copyright conditions, photocopies of materials will be supplied for a minimum charge. Copies can be mailed for a minimum charge for shipping and handling. Cash, checks, or money orders are accepted for payment.
The University reserves the right to refuse reproduction of any materials.

I have read the above rules and agree to abide by them. I understand that failure to comply may result in the denial of access to the University of St. Thomas Archives.
