Drama Department Stages "Guys and Dolls"

Join the UST Drama Department as they stage "Guys and Dolls," the oddball romantic comedy set in Damon Runyon's mythical New York City that is considered by many to be the perfect musical comedy. The drama soars with the spirit of Broadway as it introduces us to a cast of vivid characters who have become legends in the canon: Sarah Brown, the upright but uptight "mission doll," out to reform the evil-doers of Time Square; Sky Masterson, the slick, high-rolling gambler who woos Brown on a bet and ends up falling in love; Adelaide, the chronically ill nightclub performer whose condition is brought on by the fact she's been engaged to the same man for 14 years; and Nathan Detroit, her devoted fiancé, desperate as always to find a spot for his infamous floating crap game. "Guys and Dolls" is ideal for audiences of all ages.

Show times are 8 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday, April 11-14; 6 p.m. Sunday, April 15; 8 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday, April 18-21; 6 p.m. Sunday, April 22; and 8 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday, April 25-28 in Jones Theatre, 3910 Yoakum. Tickets are $15 for the general public and $6 for students. For more information and group discounts call 713-525-3520.

Music Students Excel at NATS Competition

Voice students of Brady Knapp and Laura Llana recently competed in the National Association of Teachers of Singing Competition, which drew more than 400 students from area universities.

Chapel of St. Macrina

What was formerly known as Guinan Hall Chapel recently received a new name, as well as a student-designed altar. The chapel has been named the Chapel of St. Macrina, after St. Basil the Great's younger sister. The Chapel of St. Basil designed by the late architect Philip Johnson is named for St. Basil the Great, a renowned educator who fought publicly against heretical teachings in the mid-300s A.D. His younger sister founded a religious community, and her devotion led to her brother's immersion into Christian life.

The chapel's new altar, unveiled at the naming cermony, is a showpiece of student-created mosaics.

Beach Retreat 2007

Campus Ministry will host the spring semester beach retreat at Mustang Island on April 20-21.

While sitting on a sandy beach and smelling the ocean breeze is a treat in itself, students also have the chance to surf, hike, reflect and grow closer to God. Retreat spots are limited, so reserve your place by going to Campus Ministry, second floor, Crooker Center, or calling 713-525-3589.

ViewPoints

Symposium on Plato

The Center for Business Ethics, in conjunction with the UST philosophy department, hosts a symposium on the thought of Plato from 1-4 p.m. Friday, April 13, in the Basilian Room of Welder Hall.

Scholarship Funds Available for MIB Students

On Dec. 23, 2005, just seven months after completing his graduate degree, UST alumnus Leslie Scott Stonaker died of a heart attack and left behind a legacy that his friends, family and classmates at UST will always remember.

Engaged in a passionate concern for humanity, Stonaker set a career goal to work in South or Central America with U.S.-based charitable organizations. He earned his undergraduate degree from Texas State University in San Marcos and served in the Peace Corps in Central America for two years. He earned his graduate degree in international business from the Cameron School of Business in 2005. He died at 38 and left behind his wife, Fabiola, and daughter, Emilia.

To commemorate his life and passion, Stonaker's friends and family have established the Scott Stonaker Memorial Grant for travel awarded to graduate students of international business. The grant is in the amount of $1,500 and will be given out in three $500 awards.
