

News media guidelines and policies

Finding campus news and information

Reporters and editors can contact Sandy Soliz, the director of Communications, at 713-525-3116 or 713-906-7912 to request information about the University of St. Thomas or to ask for help in identifying people you want to interview for specific stories.

News releases, public service announcements, and media advisories are sent regularly to the media. If you are a member of the media and wish to be added to our media distribution lists, contact Sandra Soliz at solizs@stthom.edu.

Faculty experts

Faculty experts are listed in the online Media Resource Guide. To interview someone in the directory, reporters and editors can contact the Sandy Soliz or the experts directly.

If you have a need for an expert relating to a topic not included in the Media Resource Guide, contact Sandra Soliz at solizs@stthom.edu or (713) 906-7912 for assistance.

We also can help you arrange to take photos on campus or help you get information about possible photographic restrictions during certain high-profile events.

Contact the Director of Communications questions relating to media photography/videotaping on our campus.

Media access to campus

The media are required to notify the Director of Communications of a visit to campus. Residence halls are not open to the media.

Individual professors may grant the media access to classrooms during a class session, but access must be worked out in advance. Contact the Director of Communications to request permission.

Permission is required to videotape on campus. The news media must request permission to videotape in the Chapel of St. Basil.

In the event of an emergency, access to areas normally open to the media may be limited per the request of emergency personnel. In those cases, media should follow the guidelines established at the site of the incident.

Media access to campus events

Reporters and photographers are welcome to cover most events and activities on campus. Some events (plays, some concerts and forums) may have restrictions for photographers (use of flash, where shots can be taken, etc.). Please contact the Director of Communications in advance of the event if you have questions.

Reporters and photographers should have some form of media credentials to gain access to activities and events that require tickets.

The Director of Communications makes every effort to provide opportunities for the media to talk with newsworthy campus visitors. The media will be informed about those opportunities as details are confirmed.

The media are welcome at UST's commencement ceremony. Photographers should check in with the Director of Communications prior to commencement to identify where they can set up their equipment.

Media parking on campus

Members of the local media may park either in the Moran Center parking garage ($2 fee) at the corner of West Alabama and Graustark on adjacent city streets.

Media credentials should be displayed on the vehicle dashboard at all times.
