

Contextual Menus

Editing courses in Blackboard depends heavily on contextual menus. These menus contain available options for each item. These are visually represented by one downward-facing arrow, which becomes visible only when you point the mouse at the item. Each menu may contain different options depending on the type of item or its current status. You must have Edit Mode ON to see and use the contextual menus.

