Who should apply?

Percussion Institute

The summer percussion institute's mission is to provide intense musical training for young percussion students and to enlighten them of the various opportunities available as professional musicians and teachers.

The program will focus on the skills used in orchestral music, Broadway shows, jazz drumming and Latin percussion.

The purpose for this camp is to give students a broad knowledge of how percussion is used throughout the music industry. Learning how to play all of the basic percussion instruments will help the students to become more well-rounded musicians.
