Policy Number: H.03.08

SCOPE

All benefit-eligible employees.

PURPOSE

To define the University's Education Benefits Program and provide guidelines for its administration.

POLICY/PROCEDURE

The University of St. Thomas allows its employees and dependents to enroll in graduate and undergraduate classes either tuition free or at a reduced rate. The University complies with all applicable laws and regulations regarding the taxation of education benefits.

1. Education benefits provided to employees

Benefit-eligible employees who have completed six months of continuous employment and who meet all academic requirements will be permitted to enroll in classes tuition free, under the following conditions:

- a. Only one course per semester may be taken during an employee's regular work schedule. This does not include compressed summer session courses of two credits or more, which are not allowed to be taken during an employee's regular work schedule.
- b. Time away from the office must be approved by the supervisor.
- c. Time taken for classes during work hours must be made up, as agreed upon with the supervisor.
- d. No tuition, student activity fees or new-student fee will be charged but lab fees, technology fees and applicable course fees as well as the application fee must be paid. For purposes of this policy course fees include payments made by the University pursuant to the Cooperative Agreement between the University and the Glassell School of Art.
- e. If the employee is taking a first course at the University, an application for admission must be completed and all requirements must be met.
- f. The continuation of this benefit is contingent upon satisfactory academic performance in accordance with University regulations.

2. Education benefits provided to the dependents of employees

The dependent children and/or spouse of benefit-eligible employees, and the nephews/nieces of benefit-eligible employees who are Catholic priests or members of a Catholic religious community, are eligible for tuition remission according to a schedule determined by the employee's length of service at the University. The term "dependent child" refers to the Internal Revenue Service's definition of a dependent.

- a. The dependent/spouse tuition remission applies only to tuition. All fees must be paid by the student including, but not limited to, application fees (if applicable), new student fees, activity fees, lab fees, technology fees and course fees. For purposes of this policy, course fees include payments made by the University pursuant to the Cooperative Agreement between the University and the Glassell School of Art.

- b. The tuition remission schedule is as follows:
 - Employee's years in service Amount of tuition remission
 - After one (1) year 50% of tuition
 - After two (2) years 75% of tuition
 - After three (3) years 100% of tuition

3. Other

Course fees for Study Abroad programs will be deemed to equal the cost charged for the program minus the tuition for credit hours earned.

The maximum number of hours for which undergraduate tuition can be waived for any one individual under the terms of this policy will equal the maximum number of hours awarded to students on full tuition scholarships.

All employees and their dependents who apply for financial aid must be selected for verification.

Employees who receive a tuition benefit and dependents that receive a 100% tuition benefit are not eligible to receive University merit scholarships. Dependents that receive less than a 100% tuition benefit are only eligible to receive University merit scholarships for the remaining portion of the tuition due, exclusive of the fees referred to in Section III, B(1) above. For example, a dependent receiving a 75% tuition benefit is only eligible for University merit scholarships to cover the remaining 25% of the tuition due, exclusive of the fees referred to in Section III, B(1) above.

The determination of dependency status for the purpose of this policy is not determinative of the dependency status for the purpose of Federal financial aid.

4. Requesting educational benefits

Employees who wish to enroll in a course should complete a "Request for Educational Benefits" form for every semester that they are enrolled. The request must be approved by the supervisor and the Office of Human Resources. For dependents, a "Request for Educational Benefits" must be completed by the employee for every semester that the dependent is enrolled and it must be approved by the Office of Human Resources. All dependents are required to complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid ("FAFSA"). FAFSA is the application used by colleges and universities to determine eligibility for federal, state and university sponsored financial aid. . The approved "Request for Educational Benefits" must be forwarded to the Financial Aid Office for award of the benefits.
