

UNIVERSITY OF
ST. THOMAS

UNIV 2301 - Integrated Learning - 100% online

COURSE DESCRIPTION

"Integrated Learning" is a fundamental course for college success. While it is required for the B.A. or B.S. in Integrated Humanities, it can be taken as an elective with any major.

This course is great for all students, regardless of major!

Maybe you have said sometime to yourself "I've read this assignment ten times, and I still have no idea what it is about!" We can fix that! Students in "Integrated Learning" will gain fundamental skills in analytical reading of texts, across disciplinary fields, and in identifying the philosophical content of readings, namely the metaphysical, anthropological, and ethical assumptions therein, all aimed ultimately at answering the questions: what does a text say, how it says it, and what difference it makes.

StThom.edu/IntegratedHumanities

For more information, contact Thomas C. Behr, J.D., Ph.D.
Director of Graduate & Undergraduate Liberal Arts Programs, Assistant Professor of History at 713-525-6951 or behrt@stthom.edu