FAITH AND SCIENCE: A JOURNEY INTO GOD’S MYSTICAL LOVE introduces a fresh voice into the sometimes polarizing subject of faith and science. Catholic Deacon Robert J. Hesse, Ph.D. offers a unique look into two subjects, which seem counter intuitive. How can these topics come together? In what ways do they meet? Does one take a backseat to the other? The book explores the asymptotic convergence, approaching but not touching, of faith and science over a broad range of disciplines including: physics to creation, chemistry to life, biology to consciousness and psychology to mysticism; all accessible in language non-scientists can understand.

Using his compelling personal story, detailed images and colorful pictures, Hesse leads the reader on a fascinating journey through the universe, which led him back to his religious roots. He shares his pitfalls, side trips, assumptions and questions as he explores and explains scientific theory from the Big Bang to ultimately finding serenity in God’s indwelling presence. He wants you to know, believe and accept God exists in every human, no matter gender, race, creed, ethnicity.

Hesse learned St. Augustine of Hippo was right: “Miracles are not contrary to nature, but only contrary to what we know about nature.” Join him on his interesting, questioning, heart-felt quest to experience God’s awe in a very personal way and discover the real miracle, God’s love in creation itself.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Robert J. Hesse, Ph.D. is a permanent Catholic deacon in the Archdiocese of Galveston-Houston. He is Co-founder and Chairman of Contemplative Network. He was inspired by Trappist Monk, Fr. Thomas Merton, while on retreat at Gethsemani Trappist monastery. Hesse was appointed by Trappist Fr. Thomas Keating as a Commissioned Presenter of Contemplative Outreach Ltd. (COL). Contact Hesse at rjh@contemplative.net.

Hesse has given numerous international and interfaith presentations and retreats. He teaches a graduate course on faith and science and shares the practice of the contemplative interfaith Oneness Prayer. Hesse is available for live or Zoom interviews, presentations and seminars, which can be arranged by contacting Jan Masterson at editor@contemplative.net.
