

Friday Lecture Series

International Street Art

Daniel Anguilu
Street Artist

February 15, 2013

2:00 PM

New Tiller

Followed by Taste the World

“His murals have a mysterious, organic feel, colorful, often depicting animals and visual tropes that stem from his Mexican heritage and Aztec influence.” -The Examiner

Daniel Anguilu started painting graffiti at an early age. Mostly using freight trains and walls as his canvases, his art is increasingly visible around his hometown of Houston, Texas, and highly concentrated in the East End. Anguilu has been invited and traveled to many cities in the US, Mexico, Peru, Spain, and Italy to paint graffiti and to participate in graffiti art exhibits. He has also visited Asia, Africa, and Central America to enrich his knowledge of pre-colonial art and the cultures in those regions.

FOR MORE INFORMATION CONTACT DIANA GARCIA

713-525-3530 garciad@stthom.edu

Find us on Facebook at:

[http://www.facebook.com/
Center.for.International.Studies](http://www.facebook.com/Center.for.International.Studies)

