Learn more about college financial aid
At a fun, festive Fat FAFSA event

WHAT: Third annual University of St. Thomas Fat FAFSA

WHEN: Noon – 2 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 20

WHERE: University of St. Thomas
       Academic Mall, located in front of Moran Center, 3800 Montrose Blvd.

BACKGROUND: The University of St. Thomas Office of Scholarships and Financial Aid and the Council of Clubs present the third annual Fat FAFSA, an event dedicated to promoting student participation in the financial aid process. (February is Financial Aid Awareness Month)

Student loan lenders will be onsite to provide information on borrowing. Computers will also be available for students who want to apply for aid and for graduating seniors who need to complete their exit counseling.

The event includes food, music and a parade.

Popular Houston-based crooner John Evans will perform acoustic sets during Fat FAFSA. His 2006 effort, Ramblin’ Roy, was named best local disc of the year by the Houston Chronicle/HandStamp. Evans has earned top honors at the Houston Press Music Awards for the past six years, including Best Musician of the Year. An acoustic collection of unreleased tracks, “Slide Show,” will be released this month.

Fat FAFSA will also feature an art exhibit showcasing faculty, staff, student and alumni artwork.

COST: Free and open to college-age students and their parents.

FOR INFORMATION: Contact Scott Moore at the Office of Scholarships and Financial Aid at 713-525-2151.
