

Federal Work-Study

Federal Work-Study provides part-time jobs for undergraduate and graduate students with financial need, allowing them to earn money to help pay education expenses while they are enrolled. The program encourages community service work and work related to the student's course of study.

Both full-time and part-time students are eligible for work-study.

If you're awarded work-study, the maximum dollar amount that can be earned under this program will be on your award letter. Further instructions will be emailed to you containing a description of the program and a personalized Student Employment Form. In order to secure employment you must browse Career Service's online job search engine, Handshake, to identify possible job openings.

You must bring your personalized Student Employment Form to all interviews. If hired, you and your employer must complete your personalized Student Employment Form. Once this form is completed, it must be submitted to the financial aid office. When your completed form is received, you may begin working.
