Enlist in the UST Alumni Volunteer Corps

HOUSTON (Jan 23, 2006) – Recently, the University of St. Thomas established an Alumni Volunteer Corps, which offers a way for alumni to continue the tradition of providing service work. Pursuing excellence in teaching, scholarship and service is part of UST’s mission statement.

The Corps’ objective is to establish a group of alumni volunteers who will perform services related to the operation of the University. Various projects and volunteer opportunities will involve alumni in the day-to-day life of the University and provide an opportunity for alumni to talk with students and faculty, and reconnect with their Alma Mater and its programs.

Thomas Dooley Jr., “59 coordinates the efforts of alumni volunteers on behalf of the University. For more information or to volunteer, please contact Tom at 713-942-5040 or dooley@stthom.edu or go to www.stthom.edu/alumni/corps_mission.html.

The University of St. Thomas is a private institution committed to the liberal arts and to the religious, ethical and intellectual traditions of Catholic higher education.
